

Dog-Friendly Camping Safety Checklist

Getting Started

Getting outdoors and in tune with nature is great for your whole family including your family dog. But before you embark on your next trip, remember to consider these safety tips to ensure both you and your dog get the most out of your camping experience.

Pet Insurance

If you don't already have pet insurance, you should really think about taking out a policy. Before you go camping, check online for the best deals. If anything happens to your pet, you'll want access to the best clinic. Pet insurance ensures you won't need to worry about costs during an emergency.

Use a Leash

Always keep your dog on a leash during your camping trip. They could get spooked by wildlife or chase after something unexpectedly. A leash helps keep them safe and close to you at all times.

Don't Leave Your Dog Unattended

Never leave your dog alone in a tent or car, especially in hot weather. If a family activity isn't pet-friendly, nominate someone to stay back with your dog, or research nearby pet-sitting services or caravan parks with pet care options.

Keep Them Out of the Sun

Make sure your dog has access to shade and plenty of water. Dogs can overheat quickly in summer. Let them swim, rest in the shade, and stay cool to prevent dehydration.

Keep a Safe Distance

Keep your dog away from the campfire. Even one spark can cause a serious burn. Use a leash to maintain a safe distance while still allowing them to enjoy being outdoors.

Bring Medication

Pack all necessary medications and ensure your dog is up to date on vaccinations. They'll be exposed to insects and possibly allergens, so preparation is key.

Know Their Limits

Some dogs may suffer from anxiety or heat exhaustion. In rare cases, it may be kinder to leave them with a trusted friend or sitter. But most dogs love camping with a few precautions, they'll enjoy it as much as you do!
